Two-Car Garage Destroyed by Fire

A fire resulting from what is believed to have been an explosion of a salamander oil stove last night gutted a concrete-block two-car garage and caused several thousand dollars damage to its contents on the property of Jennie Stipic of RD 1, Salem, several hundred feet north of Damascus Rd. and west of Benton Rd. Salem firemen shown above fighting the blaze, were called to the scene at 8:56 p.m. but when they arrived the roof was already completely ablaze. They remained at the scene until 12:05 a.m.

An estimated crowd of 100 neighbors and curious onlookers were on hand in the frigid 21-degree air. Frank Stipic, co-owner of $2,000 worth of woodworking machinery and sections of three pre-fabricat-

15 Persons Die In Plant Blast

1 Still Missing, 55 Others Injured

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — Rescue crews with cranes recovered two more bodies today from the ruins of a meat packing plant, pushing the toll of Wednesday's explosion to 15.

The search continued for one other victim believed buried in the rubble.

Fifty-five other workers were injured in the explosion that shot through the Home Packing Co. plant here Wednesday. Six were listed in critical condition.

"I had my left hand free," worker Gerald Fagg, 20, West Terre Haute, related afterward. "I kept digging, digging, and digging. There was a body right under me. I could feel the flesh move. Finally I dug a hole and saw a guy above me. I pinched him on his leg and wouldn't let him go."

"I smelled something, a rotten smell, an awful, rotting smell," said Donald Melcho 28 Terre Haute. "That was about 10 'til 7. A little after that it exploded."

Authorities today remained uncertain of the cause of the blast. Investigators were checking the possibility of a gas explosion.

Fire Chief Norman Fesler said "The probable cause is uncertain and it'll probably stay that way."

More than 200 workers were inside the meat packing plant when the force ripped through the 55-year-old building, designated last month as a civil defense fallout shelter.

The crumbling rubble burst ammonia lines in the refrigerator unit in the basement and spread a stifling blanket over the area. Sister Justine at St. Anthony Hospital said, "We were all crying and coughing" from the ammonia coming from the lungs of the injured men rushed to the emergency ward.

Nurses donned respirator masks and oxygen equipment in order to treat the patients.

Dick Powell Dies Of Cancer at 58

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dick Powell, who made his fame singing love songs to Ruby Keeler and his millions in the tycoon role he loved best, died of cancer Wednesday night with June Allyson holding his hand.

The 58-year-old movie and television veteran had been in a coma two days.

His death climaxed a sad day for Hollywood, following by only five hours the death—also of cancer—of Jack Carson.

For the first time in recent memory, two funerals for major Hollywood personalities will be held on the same day—Friday.

Powell was the fourth Hollywood giant felled by the disease in 18 days. Charles Laughton, who died Dec. 15, and Thomas Mitchell, who died two days later, were the others.

Miss Allyson, Powell's actress-wife, had sat holding his hand most of the evening. It was she who discovered that he had breathed his last.

Others at the bedside were Powell's two brothers, Howard, Wilmette, Ill., a vice president of the Illinois Central Railroad and Luther, retired vice president of the South American Division of International Harvester Co.; Powell's two children from his previous marriage to actress Joan Blondell and Pamela, an adopted daughter.

Richard Keath his 12-year-old son, was at the home of Justin Dart, a close friend of Powell. Death came in a plush penthouse apartment into which the Powells had moved only a few days earlier.

Powell disclosed last Sept. 27 that he had cancer of the lymph glands. With characteristic optimism, he announced that he would like it.

He continued as president of the highly successful Four Star Television, Inc. and kept filming his appearances as host of the top-rated Dick Powell Show, a drama anthology series.

Cranmer, Aldom File For May Primaries

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer, a Democrat, filed with the Columbiana County Board of Elections this morning to become the first city official to announce for the party primaries next May.

Filing right after the mayor shortly before noon was Councilman-at-Large James Aldom, also a Democrat.

The mayor will be seeking his party's nomination for a fifth term, although not consecutively. Mayor Cranmer was first elected in 1953 and then was re-elected in 1955. He was defeated in 1957 by former Republican Mayor Harold Smith, but came back in 1959 to check Smith's bid for a second term and then in 1961 defeated Atty. Henry L. Reese, a Republican.

Aldom, a restaurant owner, is serving his first full term as a councilman-at-large although he was elected president of City Council in 1953 but later resigned due to what he termed "business pressures."

Mayor Cranmer, commenting in particular on his last four years in office, said, "I feel that we have been able to make considerable progress for Salem through various projects, but much work for the welfare of Salem remains to be done."

He cited progress made on completion of the municipal parking lots, street improvements and

30 Persons Face Charges

Grand Jury Opens Hearings Tuesday

LISBON — Cases of breaking and entering, rape and larceny are among the 36 charges against 30 individuals to be heard by the January Grand Jury which will convene Tuesday in Common Pleas Court, Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said.

Fifty prospective jurors have been ordered to appear at 9:30 a.m. for selection to the 15-member panel which will be sworn in by Judge Joel H. Sharp who will preside over criminal cases during this term of court.

The January court session will officially begin Monday noon when the Columbiana County Bar Association holds its annual meeting and election of officers. The group will have dinner at the V.F.W. dining rooms and return to the Courthouse for its meeting.

To Hear Cases Tuesday
The jury's first duty will be to visit the county jail and is expected to begin hearing testimony Tuesday afternoon against the 30 defendants.

Cases to be heard during the January term are:

Frederick L. Clair, 36, Rogers RD, two counts of forgery of checks on the First National Bank in East Palestine.

Larry Alexander, 358 S. Ellsworth Ave., Salem, theft of eight cases of eggs from the Northeast Ohio Poultry Association Sept. 10.

Thomas Francis Goetz, 24, 226 Vine St., Salem, rape of a 17-year-old Salem girl.

Arthur Leo Oates, Empire, non-support of his four minor children.

Possession of Stolen Tools

Andrew Pappas, Lisbon, possession of $1,500 worth of stolen tools from two employees of Lincoln Machine Co., Salem, January of 1961.

Helen E. Brown, East Liverpool, and Mrs. Ida Infanti, co-owner of Star Lite Cafe, Wells-ville, both charged with selling intoxicating liquor to minors.

Ruth S. Wright, Hubbard, possession of narcotics Oct. 10 in East Palestine.

William Garrett Van Zee II, 23, San Anselmo, Calif., possession of burglary tools.

Wayne Russell Redmond, 30, Santa Clara, Calif., two counts of using false and fictitious names to obtain an auto title.

Frank Kenneth Boyd, East Liverpool, operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent on Oct. 10.

Jerry Kent, 20, East Liverpool, rape of waitress at Commarata's Spaghetti House last Nov. 15.

Breaking and Entering

Hubert Lee Masters, 40, Burgettstown, breaking and entering of Veteran of Foreign Wars Hall, East Liverpool, Aug. 25, 1953.

James Meighin, theft of television set from Central Appliance Co. in East Liverpool.

Joseph (Dusty) Rhodes, 38, Irondale RD 1, non-support of minor child.

Philip Bixler, Salem RD 5, John Radsick, Canton, and James Holdierth, Salem, theft of a car owned by Thomas Ehrhardt III 791 Prospect St., Salem, Dec. 27.

Kenneth Kinser, 31, Salem.

Youth Flung From Auto, Hospitalized

A 16-year-old Akron youth, flung from a car driven by his 15-year-old companion was injured when their vehicle struck an embankment this morning at 2:20 on Route 172 near New Franklin.

Listed as fairly good by the Salem Central Clinic is Larry Croft, son of Mrs. Edith P. Croft of 284 Alpha Ave., Akron. He received lacerations of the back and scalp, abrasions and possible back injuries.

Operator of the eastbound auto, Frank Beam, also of Akron, escaped injury when the car, rounding a curve, went out of control 1.5 miles east of the Stark County Line, hit a guard rail and plowed into an embankment on the right side of the road. The impact knocked out one guard rail post, the Lisbon barracks of the State Highway Patrol reported.

The accident is still under investigation.

A Columbiana motorist avoided a collision with a Lisbon area car Wednesday at 3:10 p.m. on Route 7, 2.2 miles north of Route 30, but smashed into a mailbox.

The patrol said Edward Mahler,

Castro Speech Rips Kennedy

Cuban Boasts of Missile Might

HAVANA (AP)—Western diplomats searched in vain today for anything in Prime Minister Fidel Castro's anniversary speech that they could interpret as a promise of any basic change in U.S.-Cuban relations.

Most of the 90-minute speech Wednesday, following a military parade that displayed for the first time in Cuba ground-to-air and coastal defense missiles, was a scorching attack on the United States and President Kennedy.

On the fourth anniversary of the prime minister's power, six of the sleek missiles rumbled past bug-eyed crowds. Castro made only a brief reference to them, saying, "Today, the first ground-to-air rocket artillery crews in training have paraded past here."

He said they would keep Cuban air space clear of intruding U.S. planes.

But an emotional radio announcer exulted that the rockets could "knock down an enemy plane at its highest flight ceiling."

Washington officials had been looking forward to Castro's anniversary speech for clues that might show whether Premier Khrushchev's backdown in the Cuban crisis might have changed Castro's reliance on Moscow and induced a warmer feeling for Red China.

But Castro took a middle course in the ideological dispute between Moscow and Peking. Acknowledging that he was concerned by "discrepancies that have arisen in the socialist camp," Castro said, "our duty is to struggle for unity inside the socialist family."

He was as firm as ever against U.S. demands—recently softened—for international inspection to insure that all the Soviet "offensive" missiles and jet bombers have left Cuba.

Stressing Cuban sovereignty, he said, "for that reason we do not accept the unilateral inspection intended by imperialism to humiliate. For that reason there was no inspection, there will be no inspection."

Castro called President Kennedy a "vulgar bandit chief" and said the U.S. chief executive had degraded his high office more than any other president.

Castro said he had forced the United States to pay an indemnity of $53 million for the release of the Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners.

"For the first time in its history, imperialism paid an indemnification of war," he declared.

A LOT OF WORK FOR NOTHING — Thieves went to a lot of work last night to open this safe at the Ashland Bulk Station on the Georgetown Road, just outside the city, and got nothing for their pains. Manager L. K. Votaw, who discovered the entry when he opened for business at 7:45 a.m. today, said there was no money in the safe. The intruders gained entry by forcing open a back door and rolled the safe from the office to the warehouse where they pried it open. County Deputy Howard Gray (L) and Perry Twp. Constable John Wanner investigated. Nothing was taken, Votaw said.

Committees Unchanged

Leetonia Council Re-Elects Morris

LEETONIA — Elby Morris, owner-operator of the Morris Oil Co. service station, was re-elected by the village last Dec. 19 meeting in final payment of personal property taxes, sales tax and a liquor permit.

In addition, $15.70 was collected from parking meters, a figure about half of normal since the meters were covered for three weeks during the Christmas season to accommodate shoppers.

Mayor Ralph Kennedy reported that $132 was collected from traffic fines and other violations in November and December.

The mayor also announced that village committees he appointed in 1962 would remain the same for 1963. Committees and their chairmen are: finance, Joe Weikart; street, Dan Cullinan; police, Morris; fire, Chester Whitacre; police pension, Weikart; firemen dependency, Morris; health and sanitation, Frank Citino; flood prevention, Citino; cemetery, Morris; street lights, Clerk Dan Butch reported a total of $1,800 has been collected by the village since the Dec. 19 meeting in final payment of personal property taxes, sales tax and a liquor permit.

Council Annexation Committee Named

City Council President Ford Joseph Jr. last night appointed a new special committee of Council to look into problems that might be involved should Perry Township residents request annexation.

Anticipating the annexation of Perry Township to Salem "within the next 10 years," Councilman John E. Rance suggested that Council look into the financial costs and possible problems which might be entailed by the township's annexation.

Council President Joseph appointed Councilmen Rance, James Aldom and Charles Gibbs to the special committee to consider annexation problems. Joseph said he would also ask Perry Township representatives and Mayor Cranmer, City Engineer Barkhoff, Solicitor Thomas Coe and Utilities Superintendent William J. Thompson to work with the special committee of Council.

At the suggestion of Councilman Harold J. Asty, an ordinance will be drawn up before next Council meeting calling for the annexation to the city proper of an area of Salem-owned land known as the Smith well field, west of Jennings Ave. and bordering the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks.

Chief, Safety Director Give Their Support

Mayor Objects, Says Plan Costly; Police Also Seek Benefits

City Council, in its first regular session of 1963 Wednesday night, received a request from the Salem Fire Department for a reduction of the firemen's work week from 72 to 56 hours per week.

Signed by 12 members of the fire department including the fire chief and by Dr. R. J. McConnor, safety director, the request was referred to Council's traffic and safety committee for consideration. The same committee is studying a Dec. 18 request by Salem City Police Department for new benefits.

The firemen said their petition "is based on the fact that the 56-hour working system has been proven to be more efficient and effective in modern fire departments than our present 72-hour system."

Mayor Refuses to Sign

Councilmen noted that the petition did not bear the signature of Mayor Dean B. Cranmer, although the petition form had included a space for the mayor's name. Mayor Cranmer explained that he had been asked by firemen to sign the petition but that he had refused to do so "because granting the request would involve an expenditure of $15,000."

Members of the fire department said in their written petition: "For the welfare of the citizens of Salem and Perry Township, we feel this change is vital and necessary in order to provide greater efficiency in fire protection."

Advantages of the 56-hour, three platoon system over the 72 hour, two-platoon system were cited in the request. Disadvantages of the "Kelly Day" system (the 72-hour week) were also described by the fire department members.

Cite Existing Confusion

Under the present working conditions at the fire department, rotation of manpower is practiced. This, the firemen maintain, results in confusion. "No one has a regular assignment nor exact duties from day to day. Substitutions within the department are a daily necessity to fill essential positions."

The firemen also charged that there is a "lack of efficiency" in their present working arrangement. "Men must be Jacks of all trades with little chance for efficiency and specialization. Duties are rotated in loose regularity over a two-week period, giving 14 crew combinations for each apparatus before repeating."

Members of the fire department continued: "All schedules for all phases of activity must be overlapping to take care of 'Kelly Day' absences. Instructions are sometimes missed by men who were absent on 'Kelly Day' when they were given."

The petition pointed out: "There are always two days every two weeks when the department has no platoon lieutenant."

A 56-hour week, the fire fighters maintain, would result in: Better fire crews, better administration, larger reserves, and constant supervision.

Would Have 3 Crews

If the 56-hour, three-platoon system were adopted here, the firemen explain, there will be three crews within the department. Each crew will consist of five firemen, including one lieutenant.

The local firemen told Council that of the approximately 7,000 professional fire-fighters in the state of Ohio, 6,800 or 97 per cent of the firemen are working less than 72 hours per week. In 34 cities the approximate size of Salem, 56 per cent of the firemen are working fewer hours than

Comedian Kept Illness Secret

Actor Jack Carson Succumbs to Cancer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Jack Carson, who gained comic fame playing loudmouths in the movies, died Wednesday of cancer of the liver.

Although Carson, 52, had been ill for six months, and knew two months ago that his case was terminal, his death caught most of Hollywood by surprise. That was because Carson told no one — not even his wife or his closest friends — how sick he was until two weeks ago.

On New Year's day, he watched the Rose Bowl game and was thrilled with his beloved Wisconsin's amazing fourth quarter surge. Then Wednesday he was walking around normally and talking to his wife.

She left the room for a few minutes and when she returned, Carson was dead.

Frank Stempel, Carson's partner and close friend for 28 years, said: "Amazingly, Jack didn't lose a pound of weight during his illness."

In recent years, Carson had been touring the country in stock shows.

"I'm best at making people laugh, at entertainment. They don't want me for the morbid oversexed stuff Hollywood is turning out nowadays," he said a few months ago during a round of golf with a reporter friend.

He collapsed last Aug. 26 on an Andover, N.J., stage during a dress rehearsal of "Critic's Choice." Doctors called his ailment a stomach disorder then.

But he later found out it was cancer. No one knew it but Carson and his doctor.

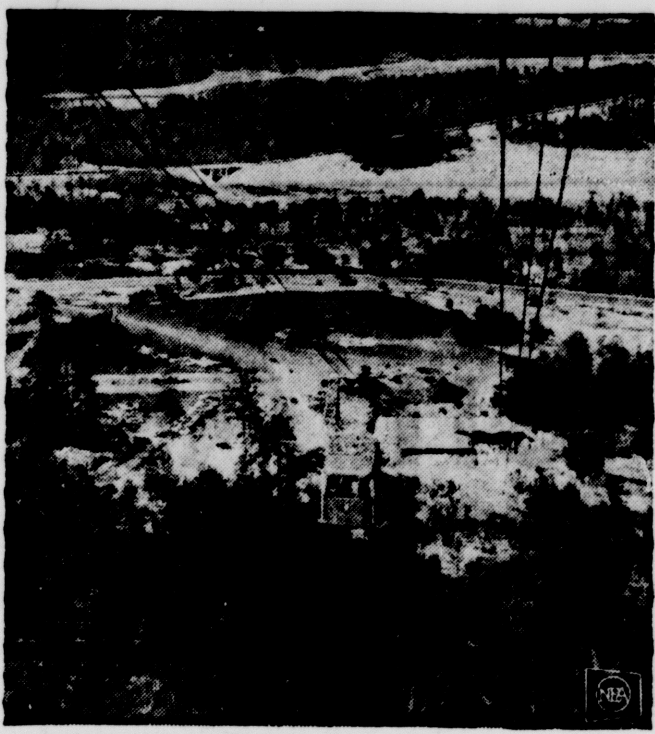

Carson was born in Carmen, Man., Canada, but moved as a youngster to Milwaukee. And to the day he died, he was as Milwaukee as lager beer.

Although Carson's career from vaudeville to movies was mostly comedy, he was a better than average serious actor. He etched two memorable performances in "A Star Is Born" and "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

He married four times. His first wife was dancer Betty Alice Linde, his vaudeville partner; singer Kay St. Germaine, by whom he had two children, was his second, and actress Lola Al. bright was his third.

He married his fourth, the former Sandra Tucker, two years ago.

Carson's funeral will be conducted Friday at Forest Lawn, the same day that rites will be held for Dick Powell, also a cancer victim.

Snow, Temperatures Hit Extremes

Old-Fashioned Winter Revisited Area In '62

If you're wondering what those rigorous old-fashioned winters were like, stop wondering. You're experiencing one right now.

Snowfall-wise, especially, 1962 went into the books as one of the most severe on record, according to Edwin Copeland, county weather observer at Millport.

The total snowfall last year measured 52 inches, almost double the annual average of 28.5 inches. Copeland said the total in 1962 was one of the greatest since 1936 when 54.8 inches were measured.

The average temperature last year was 47.7 degrees, compared with the average annual temperature of 48.8.

THE 16 INCHES OF SNOW that fell last December was one of the greatest ever recorded in that month, more than double the 5.7 inches which represents the 70-year average for December, Copeland said.

Aggravating weather conditions in the closing month of last year were high winds which whipped the snow into impenetrable drifts in countless areas, closing schools and choking traffic.

Also of note was the median temperature on Dec. 13 when a high of 7 and a low of -11 were posted, making an average of -2 for the day. The weather observer's 70-year-old records contain less than 20 such frigid days.

THE MERCURY followed a severe pattern most of last month, with an average of 23.4 degrees, compared with the 70-year December median of 29.5.

The second heaviest snowfall here in a 24-hour period descended March 6 when a 12-inch fall crippled the district. The 3½ inches that fell the last day of October was the greatest single accumulation in any October and the first to stay on the ground overnight in that month, Copeland said.

The weather observer said rainfall last year measured 30.56 inches, compared with the yearly average of 37. There were 104 days of rain or snow, 16 fewer than the average of 120.

The driest year here was in 1908 which had only 27.58 inches of rain.

The most concentrated rain descended on July 3 last year when a deluge of 2.20 inches fell during a 24-hour period. Below-average rainfall fell during nine months.

COPELAND SAID the district experienced below-zero temperatures 11 nights in 1962, with the lowest dips of the mercury touching -11 Jan. 10 and Dec. 13.

Thirteen days last month were in the 90's. The high temperature for the year occurred Aug. 20 when the thermometer read 94.

Below-average temperatures were recorded in nine months. The warmest day last month was Dec. 2, when the temperature reached 65 degrees, two degrees under the record high for December of 67 noted Dec. 6, 1956.

City Has 3-Year No Fatality Record

Salem has completed its third successive calendar year without a fatality on the city's streets or sidewalks.

Police Chief Martin Lutsch Jr., commenting on the fact that there were no traffic deaths here in 1960, 1961, or 1962, spoke with appreciation of the cooperation given to the police department by the local motoring public.

"Here's hoping we can go right on having years without death-dealing accidents on our streets," said Chief Lutsch.

The last traffic fatality in Salem happened in March, 1959, when Mrs. Rosemary N. Smith of the Pine Lake Road, died on March 9 of that year, three days after she was involved in a two-car accident on N. Ellsworth Ave.

GET FM STATIONS WASHINGTON (AP)—New FM stations are planned in Bucyrus and Urbana, Ohio, according to applications just received by the Communications Commission.

Brokensword Broadcasting Co., Bucyrus, would operate on 92.7 Chamberlain, Bellefontaine, would operate the Urbana outlet on 101.7 megacycles if approval is granted.

Elliott Named To Fair Board

Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers was appointed 10th member of the Columbiana County Agricultural Society at its meeting Wednesday evening in the county extension offices at Lisbon. He succeeds Dale Rudabaugh of Wellsville, who resigned.

Ben Weingart of Leetonia, president, presided and appointed Elliott. The board then elected Elliott treasurer to succeed V. B.

Lemley of Lisbon, who declined to run for re-election.

Richard Stamp of Salem is serving as acting secretary of the board pending the appointment of another person. Any person wishing the position may contact Stamp who also declined to run for re-election.

P. R. Corey, concession secretary, will attend the state fair managers convention at Columbus Jan. 15-17. Several other members of the board also expect to attend.

The fair board's next meeting will be Feb. 13 at 8 p.m. in the county extension offices.

Lucas Man Receives Mental Hygiene Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Martin

A. Janis, 49-year-old Lucas County businessman and former state representative, was appointed today as Ohio's new director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

Gov.-elect James A. Rhodes, in making the announcement, said he picked Janis for the $22,500-a-year post to place a man of demonstrated management and business ability in charge of the huge department.

Janis is the president of a food products firm and is chairman of the board of Brookside Research Laboratory, Inc.

He was elected state representative from Lucas County in 1960 and served on the Industry and Labor and Finance committees. Janis was chairman of the subcommittee which wrote the state's Manpower Training Act. He is presently a member of the Ohio Worker Training Committee.

Congress has grown from an original membership of 65 in 1789 to its present 437.

Russians Take Group Away

Siberians Seek Refuge In American Embassy

MOSCOW (AP)—A determined little band of Siberian peasants forced their way into the U.S. Embassy today, seeking refuge from alleged religious persecution by Soviet officials.

Nearly four hours later, the group of about 32 men, women and children was taken from the embassy grounds in a Soviet bus, still protesting loudly.

Soviet officials said they would be taken to a hotel.

It was the first such protest by veteran Western observers in Moscow could remember.

The shabbily dressed peasants said they had come from Chernogorsk, a Siberian town about 2,100 miles east of Moscow.

They said they were fleeing from persecution by local officials who threatened to jail them and take their children away from them.

The group's leaders, who said they were Evangelical Christians, a Protestant sect, bitterly protested.

"We don't want to go anywhere," they said. "They will shoot us. Let us be sent to any country. It doesn't matter. There is no place for us here—no place to go."

Finally they straggled into the bus, apparently resigned to staying in the Soviet Union. They had told embassy officials they wanted to go to Israel.

An embassy official said later the group had heard somewhere about the right of asylum. They said they thought they could seek asylum in foreign embassies in Moscow.

They set out four days ago by train, arriving here early this morning.

At about 9:30 a.m. they pushed their way past Soviet policemen who guard the entrances to the embassy day and night.

Inside the embassy compound nonplussed American officials invited them to take shelter in the embassy lunchroom from the bitter Moscow weather.

The lunchroom staff served hot coffee and snacks to the hungry visitors while they told Russian-speaking embassy officers their story. Meanwhile embassy officials called the Soviet foreign ministry and asked them to make provision for the group.

The group consisted of 6 men, 12 women and 14 children. Some of the children appeared to be quite ill.

At 11:30 a.m., an hour and a half after the peasants arrived, embassy political counselor Richard T. Davies walked into the embassy compound with two unidentified Soviets. Presumably they were foreign ministry officials, and Davies pointed out to them the lunchroom where the protesting group was being kept.

At 11:40 a.m. a blue and white Soviet bus pulled into the embassy compound, to take the group of protesters away.

Next: Compact People
Would Help Crowded Earth, Scientist Says

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Compact people may have a distinct advantage in an overcrowded world of tomorrow, the way little cars do today in congested traffic.

Moreover, if the prophesied population explosion were to produce smaller-size humans the future world would at least benefit from the useful parts—the brains, hands and feet without wasting too much space on the body.

Miami biologist Julia Morton doesn't expect anyone to take her seriously when she expounds these theories. Still, the famed authority on tropical plant life admits, "Way down deep I'm not being facetious."

At her University of Miami laboratories and in her jungle-like Morton Collectanea gardens, the snow-haired woman has scientifically influenced hundreds of generations of plant life, but she is well aware that controlling human genetics is not as simple.

Selling the Image
For several hundred years children would have to give up milk after babyhood, be schooled in the growth-stunting mountainous altitudes and in adulthood carefully fall in love with somebody they could look down to.

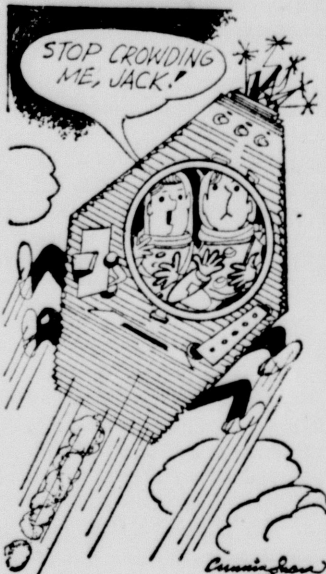

Selling the sawed-off image would take an ingenious public relations job, but the resulting petite progeny would be worth it, pint-sized (5 feet 100 pounds) Mrs. Morton believes.

"Height is glorified by tall models and show girls, but being tall isn't any fun. Ask one."

Dr. Paul Mangelsdorf, author of "Standing Room Only," a book about population explosion, agrees with her, she says, that over-doses of calcium have resulted in big boned progeny.

"The only thing that has kept us from developing into a race of ungainly giants is that tall girls have a hard time finding husbands and often end up marrying short men. Tall men almost always marry shorter girls."

An Arm's Reach
Excessively tall people usually have weak constitutions, she says. Being top heavy, they are prone to back strain and ruptured spinal discs. Clothes large enough and furniture at a comfortable scale are merely a few of their problems.

Glory on a basketball court, the advantage at parades, and an ability to reach top shelves re-minor in comparison to delights of being small, the biologist insists.

"Short men are usually dynamos of energy because they feel better. Their hearts have less work and organs are in a better position to function properly. Because of lower centers of gravity, they have better balance and more vibrant personalities."

"Short people can be well-clothed with less material. Think of the saving of mink in fur coats," she joshes. Then she's serious again.

Small Packages
"During the World War experts saw the need for training bomber personnel of small stature to save weight. How much more important that is in space capsules. Send up two 100 pound men rather than one 200-pound individual and you have two heads for decisions, for alternate dozing, and making observations, and four hands to manipulate controls."

Mrs. Morton and her botanist husband, Kendal Morton, are pioneers in poisonous plant study and tropical plant classification. Currently they are cooperating with British scientists in producing a plant leaf paste with enough protein to eliminate the need for meat. They expect that someday the substitute food will replace the need for cattle altogether.

Blue Law Confusion Since 1805

The eyebrows that outgoing Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy raised with his last-minute suits against seven corporations accused of violating Ohio's Blue Law have been brought down by incoming Atty. Gen. William L. Saxbe.

He calls the McElroy suits a maneuver "to make a name for himself" and points out that the McElroy threat to dissolve the corporations if the Supreme Court rules in his favor is empty because they could evade it by "unincorporating" on their own initiative.

The threat is empty for another reason. Mr. McElroy will not be around after Jan. 17, and his actions as an outgoing lame-duck officeholder are not binding on his successor.

But when all this has been said and it has been acknowledged that the name Mr. McElroy has made for himself may not fall pleasantly on sensitive ears, the ugly fact that sticks out like a dead cat in the middle of a highway is the existence in Ohio statutes of a hodge-podge of legal confusion that makes such a threat possible.

THIS MONSTROSITY that Ohioans must put up with until and unless the General Assembly can correct it makes it possible for public officials at any time and in any circumstances that suit their whim to badger any enterprise for doing business on Sunday. Attempts to doctor the Ohio Blue Law to make it more acceptable to custom and logic during the passing years only have added to the confusion. They have been a source of unending income to lawyers and of tortured logic to judges.

They have given the legal willies to countless law enforcement officials and by so doing have given the general public the impression of something absurd about statutes that leave to the discretion of local officials a matter of statewide concern.

THIS IS THE tangle the new General Assembly is being challenged to straighten out starting in January—a tangle that has been getting worse year by year since 1805, when prohibitions designed to force people to go to church were incorporated in Ohio's constitution.

It will take a miracle to straighten out the mess.

As Ohio's legislators square off for their biennial session they can't be blamed for wondering where the miracle is going to come from.

Can they undo in 1963 what has been in the doing since 1805?

Can they make sense out of laws that generations of lawyers, judges, businessmen and ordinary laymen have been struggling with to no avail?

The Suspicion Shatters Confidence

Guesswork about the source of the money in the ransom pot for Cuban prisoners will be replaced in due time with information.

The information either will come in believable form from the Kennedy administration or it will be dug out piecemeal by newspaper reporters as part of their job. So far it has not come in believable form.

Reports that the administration had nothing to do with raising the money are not believable. Nor for that matter are reports that the administration had something to do with raising the money. The administration alone can say with authority what part it played in the ransom.

The American people are confronted here with one of the effects of using information as an implement of policy, instead of using it as an implement of representative democracy. There is a substantial difference.

WHEN information is used in policy-making, public officials tell the people what they want them to believe.

When information is used to help representative democracy, public officials tell the people what the people have a right to know.

They do this on the assumption the people are the sovereign power and have a right to know everything. They do it on the assumption no public official has a right to withhold information of a public nature.

The Kennedy administration has been having trouble with this. All administrations have trouble with it sometimes. The Eisenhower administration has trouble and before that the Truman and Roosevelt administrations had trouble.

Herbert Hoover never did get the hang of earning the confidence of reporters by showing them the courtesy of his candor. Franklin Roosevelt proved to be a fair-weather operator in this respect; he was candid when things were going his way, bitter when reporters asked him embarrassing questions.

IN DUE TIME, someone will have to come through with all the facts and figures on how much money was raised, where it came from and who raised it.

Until then, it won't matter what anyone says, including members of the Kennedy administration.

The impression has been given that information is being used for policy again, and even the suspicion shatters confidence.

Unenviable Record

Columbiana County's record traffic death toll of 30 in 1962 is a black mark against the county.

Not since 1955 when 28 persons died in traffic accidents has the highway carnage figure been so high. Last year's toll was 11 more than '61.

Carelessness, excessive speed and poor judgment are cited by police authorities as the contributing causes of most accidents. The statistics can not be erased, nor the memories of loved ones who died, but all of us can resolve, as the new year begins, to be alert and courteous to the other driver when we're behind the wheel in 1963. It could save YOUR life.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

"Brainwashing" is a form of persuasion by persistence. The theory is that, if you say something again and again it will make

David Lawrence been led to believe the individual citizen will soon have considerably more money to spend, and hence business will boom.

The realistic truth is that the new year opens with an increase instead of a cut in taxes. This amounts to $5.38 billion. The increase in Social Security taxes alone, affecting 60 million taxpayers, will mean an additional $2 billion deducted from payrolls and a big cut in take home pay. Also, state and local taxes go up about $3 billion in the new year.

These new taxes will remove about $5 billion from the stream of personal and business incomes. That's a sizable amount, but it isn't all by any means.

When a federal income tax cut is finally enacted, the change in rates downward will be accompanied by a rise in the amount of taxes to be collected through the so-called regulatory power of the Treasury. Stiffening the regulations has the same effect as increasing the tax rates.

CONGRESS NEVER has played fair with the citizen on this. Broad powers are delegated to the Treasury to impose taxes in certain fields by means of interpretation. Thus, a deduction is allowed by law for "all the ordinary and necessary expenses" incurred in "carrying on any trade or business," but the Treasury—not Congress—defines what an ordinary or necessary expense is. Many a taxpayer, rather than go to court to dispute the issue, pays the tax imposed.

When Congress gets through enacting the coming tax reform bill, large numbers of citizens will find themselves paying higher taxes than before, even after the so-called tax cut has been put into law. Many previous deductions will be swept aside.

Already there is talk of making the rate reductions primarily in the lower-income brackets. But this implies that those in the middle and higher brackets will pay approximately the same rates as before. This fallacy will be fully understood when the new tax reform bill becomes law. Much of the revenue that will be lost by the downward change in rates will be recouped through such devices as closing alleged "loopholes."

This, however, is only a means of defending a raid on previously established rules that have for years seemed equitable. The argument will be that the Treasury needs the money.

In such a state of confusion and uncertainty, how can any constructive planning be carried on either in business or by individuals? Labor unions are getting ready to ask for higher wages to offset the drop in take home pay due to the increase in Social Security taxes.

A CITIZEN who makes $3,000 a year and has a wife and two children pays only $65 in federal income taxes. But, beginning with this month, he will pay Social Security taxes that will total $108.75 for the year. A farmer or shopkeeper who has a wife and three children and earns $4,800 a year will be paying, from January 1963 on, about as much in Social Security tax as in federal income taxes. And the end isn't in sight. The administration is pressing for passage of the "Medicare" program, which will hike the Social Security taxes some more. The Social Security tax rates now have been raised nine times since 1949. States and cities are pushing up their income taxes and sales and property taxes despite the help they get from the federal government.

Altogether, taxes are on the way up despite the brainwashing propaganda about a tax cut. As for the federal government, the President's plan is to cut certain types of taxes even though it creates a bigger deficit. This is called deficit spending. The college professors who act as Mr. Kennedy's advisers keep passing out the soothing word that all this "will help business."

Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., has uttered the prize epigram of the year. He says he is opposed to "reducing taxes with borrowed money."

THE IDEA of cutting expenses to an amount that would equal the money collected in taxes is not accepted by the administration as a good policy. Deficits are considered a more sophisticated approach.

How many people understand what the words "deficit spending" really mean? If an individual spends more money than he takes in, he can't go to the bank and say: "I'm sorry I can't pay anything on my loan, but I've incurred another deficit—just let me borrow some more money, and I'll owe you that much more." Evidently the government expects the American people to be generous bankers indefinitely.

The assumption is, of course, that the day of reckoning is in the far distant future. Actually, confidence in the integrity of the government and the soundness of the dollar is something that haunts the perilous present. Confidence can depart overnight in a wave of skyrocketing prices as the purchasing power of the dollar drops steadily downward. Brainwashing will not help restore the value of the dollar.

History Today

Today is Thursday, Jan. 3, the third day of 1963. There are 362 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1831, the Oxford Provident Building Association was organized at Thomas Sidebotham's Tavern in Frankford, Pa. It was the first building and loan association in the United States.

On this day:

In 1777, American Colonial troops scored a victory in the battle of Princeton.

In 1870 construction began on the Brooklyn Bridge linking Manhattan and Brooklyn.

In 1918, the first U.S. employment service was inaugurated as a unit of the U.S. Department of Labor.

In 1950, the State Department ordered Hungary to close its consulates in New York and Cleveland due to that Communist country's imprisonment of American Robert Vogel.

"With the Same Cast, Chief?"

Victor Riesel Looks Ahead

By VICTOR RIESEL

A columnist should have the strength of his predictions as well as convictions. But it should be recalled that I am a charter member of the Crystal Gazers Union. Our constitution says plainly we are not responsible for the fulfillment of any of our forecasts. On this premise, here is what will happen in 1963.

Victor Riesel

A big labor fund and manpower pool will be raised by union chiefs to take on Jimmy Hoffa. He'll continue to draw his $90,000 annual minimum wage from the Teamsters, and he will continue as its active president. But he'll be a beleaguered president openly fought in many cities by men as tough as he is.

He will not be convicted in the coming Tampa trial when he faces federal charges of mail fraud in behalf of a Florida (Sun Valley) housing development project. But others, now under indictment will not be so lucky as Bob Kennedy puts them in the docket.

Watch for certain Teamsters' pension funds, real estate investments and loans really to break into the front pages.

LOOK FOR a knockdown feud between the nation's labor chiefs, especially Al Hayes, leader of the 900,000-member machinists' union and Sen. McClellan. The Senate's toughest investigator is determined to make an open fight for strict anti-strike laws covering missile bases, defense plants and all means of transportation.

He'll move for their passage toward the end of the congressional session—after a series of tens hearings.

In a dramatic move, labor will begin investing many of its millions abroad. It is prepared to put large sums into housing and other projects. Probable start will be in Mexico. Loans, of course, will be guaranteed by the government.

LABOR WILL find to its surprise that the political obituary of Richard Nixon was written too soon. The former vice president will make a comeback inside the Republican party. He also will hit back hard in some national publications. Mr. Nixon was in New York recently. He relaxed on the town, went to the theater—but also did some politicking.

In one of his forays from the Waldorf Towers he conferred for quite a while with former GOP presidential candidate Thomas Dewey. The Californian will fly into New York again and again. He did not see Gov. Nelson Rockefeller this last time.

DESPITE the popularity of John Kennedy with such influential labor leaders as AFL-CIO prexy George Meany, who is exceptionally fond of him personally as well as politically, 1963 will see a small but important bloc of union chiefs begin swinging to the Rockefeller camp inside the Republican party. This could affect the 1964 presidential election.

Powerful elements of the construction trades unions will be with Mr. Rockefeller. This will make it difficult for President Kennedy to wipe out "Rocky's" half-a-million vote lead in New York—and could cost JFK the big state's big chunk of electoral votes.

KEEP AN EYE on labor's drive for a shorter work week. The union chiefs mean it. New York labor will be the interference runner. Not only may Harry Van Arsdale's electrical workers give up their five hours of overtime and go on a strict 25-hour week, but the New York City hotel workers will go on a 35-hour week. This is unheard of in the hotel and restaurant field.

While hours go down for many, wages will increase for millions of workers in, general manufacturing, auto, farm equipment, aerospace, canning, building and construction, and trucking.

Walter Reuther in '63 will prepare to fight for a shorter work week as well as profit sharing in his '64 contracts. Dave McDonald's Steelworkers will push for a shorter work year in the basic steel industry. The union will reopen the contract this summer, but there will not be a steel strike.

AND WHEN the AFL-CIO's annual convention meets—probably in New York City—next December, it will warn all 1964 candidates that those opposed to a statutory national 35-hour week in government civil service as well as private industry, will find themselves opposed by labor's political forces in the next national election.

At this convention, George Many will be unanimously re-elected. He will be supported by Walter Reuther, who will launch a national union recruiting campaign.

IN THE SOVIET Union, there will be an intense re-Stalinization campaign. Chairman Khrushchev is weaker politically internally than he was at the end of '61. But not because of the Cuban crisis. He is in trouble because the U.S.S.R. is in desperate economic difficulty.

To suppress unrest, Khrushchev will limit the government machinery closer into the Communist party's control apparatus. This was Stalin's technique.

By year's end Russia and China will be closer.

Mao will be weaker than Khrushchev. Peiping's only allies inside the Sino-Soviet bloc will be little-heel-snapping, concentration camp Albanians.

AND AS I SAID last year there will be no war. Only peace—with ulcers.

So much so that in some important American circles a movement will spring up for a reconciliation with Cuba's Communist regime. Cuba will remain a Soviet base—a combination economic, political and propaganda rocket aimed at us and our Latin friends.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Last night my husband gave me notice. He said, "I refuse to go to any more parties. I am sick of spending time with people we care nothing about, just so we can be part of a phony social set. I would prefer to stay at home and read."

Frankly, so would I. Entertaining has gotten out of hand. Every hostess I know just about kills herself trying to do something different and impressive. Our own guest list is loaded with bores to whom we are indebted simply because we accepted an invitation to their homes.

But how does a person withdraw from the mid whirl of entertaining? Once you're in it, you're in it, unless you go broke and can't afford to keep up. I need some help and I need it now. Is there a door?—LAKE FOREST.

Dear Lake Forest: You'll have no problem finding the door once you've decided you really want to get out.

Univac would have a tough time totaling the hours of wasted energy spent entertaining meaningless acquaintances in the U.S. suburbs alone.

The way to get out of the rat race is simple. Quit running. Don't accept any more invitations from bores. And don't extend any.

In the Middle

Dear Ann: I am 12 years old. My sister is 15. She is very cute and popular. Everyone says she looks like my mother, which may be the reason she is my mother's pet.

My brother is 5 years old. He is always into some mischief but everything he does is excused because he is so little. He looks like Daddy and is Daddy's favorite.

I don't look like anybody and sometimes I feel like I don't even belong in this family. I try to make up for not being as pretty as my sister by making better grades. I have not missed the honor roll since the third grade but nobody says anything about it. All I hear is, "Sit up straight. Your posture is terrible."

Yesterday my mother said, "Why don't you smile more? It would improve your looks." How can I smile when I always feel like crying? Can you give me some advice?—MISS IN-BETWEEN.

Dear Miss: You're in the middle, and the middle is a tough spot. The first born has the inside track because he got there first. The baby gets the spotlight because he is the wee one.

But cheer up soney. The middle child often accomplishes the most because he must work harder to get attention. Show this column to your parents and ask them to guess who wrote in today.

It Takes Tough Talk

Dear Ann: You sure gave a "goodfornuthin'" answer to the woman who was pestered by the neighbor's kids from dawn till dusk.

"Take them by the hand," you said, "home to their mother."

Do you think YOU are the only woman in the United States who is busy? Do you realize how long this would take when you live on a ranch as I do?

I had a different solution. We have horses on our ranch and the small fry flocked over here in droves. I couldn't watch the kids to see that they didn't get hurt and it used to worry me a lot. You know if people get hurt on your property they can sue you from the hot place to breakfast.

I knew I had to get tough and mean and that's what I did. I told the kids in my crankiest voice to stay off my place. I only had to tell them once. Soft talk doesn't count with young folks today. I learned that when I was a Juvenile Court matron. I hope this letter helps—OLD MEANIE.

Dear Meanie: I STILL think you can catch more flies with honey than with vinegar. Only vinegar on your ranch, Honey?

It's So Easy

By Truman Twill

The new seed catalog arrived on schedule. It's as if the dove had returned to the ark with a sprig in its bill.

The giant zinnias are as large as ever. The tomatoes are still the hue of a school-boy's neck when he calls for his first date and is introduced to her parents.

All the wonders of nature still with us—the ornamental gourds, Job's tears, Statice Sinuata and Xeranthemum.

A fellow can still go over bush fava beans, honey rock melons, mustard greens, sugar peas and Golden Cushaw pumpkins.

The eye lingers on Savoy cabbage, pom-pom dahlias and hardy amaryllis, on anemone coronaria, ranunculus, hardy ver-bena and a selection of tuberous rooted begonias.

There are giant gloxinias, perennial baby's breath, acroclonium and bedding spreading betunias. If the dove is not actually back with the sprig, it's winging its way once the seed catalogs are out.

Another kind of dove has returned to the Twillery sheepfold. Sam the Ram is back with his promise of lambs that will be born this year, in good to middling weather, thanks partly to planned parenthood, partly to a snowstorm that kept him from showing up earlier.

It will be late in May and early in June when the 1963 lambing occurs, and things should go better than they have gone in recent years when the blessed events took place during blizzards and freezeups.

With a little luck, those tight white fleeces should dry out in sunlight and in balmy night air instead of being rubbed dry under street lamps in a dank, dismal barn by a reluctant shepherd grumbling about the propensity of females to do their birthing at the least convenient times.

There was a mixup about Sam after he got through the snowdrifts—a crazy episode of miscounted sheep and an unidentified stranger.

A couple of sheep counters who wouldn't know a ram from a pram had been mustered into service to confirm Sam the Ram's presence, after his delivery had been reported by phone. Their report was negative. No ram. Only ewes.

They were ordered to double-check. Otherwise, a case of mysterious disappearance would have to be dealt with.

This time they made tentative identification. They were "pretty sure"—not positive, just "pretty sure." Finally, the head shepherd had to take over, to make positive identification.

It was easy. There was no trouble at all in spotting Sam the Ram. He was the one with the wrinkles in his forehead and the look of New Frontier concern in his eyes.

It's as easy to tell which sheep is a ram as it is to tell which bovine is a bull. The bull is the one with the ring in its nose. Bulls too have wrinkles in their forehead, but the ring in the nose is the giveaway.

As P. B. Shelley once put it, "If winter comes, can Spring be far behind?" This is what we live for—this endless renewal of life that otherwise would be a funeral procession careening downhill with nothing in sight to stop it.

You get a Statice Sinuata or Sam the Ram. It's so easy.

NEW YORK (AP)—Whatever happened to the muffled look, ruffles and bows, feathers, chiffon and short evening clothes?

Some are gone. Some are modified and some are growing strong among the spring styles being previewed by fashion writers attending the New York Culture Group's semi annual Press Week beginning Jan. 6.

And other rages, (such as the middy, and grandfather's night shirt) and a few outrages (such as the bared midriff evening gown) are making new news.

Yet, whatever is said, and how, the 24 participating design houses are spelling out is the same. For the idolized framework for chic is still long and lean to the marrow.

Here are the specifics:

THE CHANGES: The muffled look has become the scarfed look in wispy materials. Ruffles are way out. So are feathers, bows and beads in overpowering doses.

Chiffon is tailored, not floaty.

THE NEWS: Some jackets lack sleeves, and button down the back, or slip over head without buttons anywhere. Stretch fabrics are used in certain areas of dresses for custom fits on difficult figures. Some midriffs are bare for evening.

SPECIAL INFLUENCES: A few years ago the Army gave fashion conscious women the Eisenhower jacket with its zip down front. This year it has grown into a zip-down, step-in dress.

The Navy gave us the sailor suit. The middy blouse has been fashioned from rough textured tweed for suits as well as smooth clingy crepes for ball gowns.

The Cuban crisis gave us a sudden renewal of patriotism, and a bright riot of silk print designs featuring stars, stripes and the bald eagle.

Henry Higgins inspired designers to copy his sweater as a suit jacket and in long version as a dress. And that Arabian movies, as well as Jackie Kennedy's earlier visit to India, has resulted in long sari silk gowns with veils or stoles partially covering ladies' heads.

SHAPE: Shoulders are sloped, chest is small, waistline high, or belted low, with shaped front and a generously cut back.

HEMS: Skirts are inching gradually over the knees for daytime and reach the floor for festive occasions and at home.

COATS: The skinny ones single and double-breasted, in bonbon colors are what's left of last spring's passion for the Rajah shape.

SUITS: Jackets are so long they stop just short of being coats, or they are shells that hug the hipline, or flare out French style into peplums. Skirts sideward, or gather slightly at the waistband. Sleeves are set in and longer than last year.

Blouses usually match jacket linings as in previous season but color and patterns are not as garish.

DRESSES: The little "nothing" dress still lacks its collar and sleeves however, it is less fitted than a sheath, more so than a sack.

SPLIT LEVELS: These, the tall girl's blessings, are achieved with capelets over loose long jackets, over slim skirt.

COLORS: Sugar candy pastels have every designer's vote, pink leads the parade, blue is not far behind.

COLORS: All bonbon hues are favorites but pinks, blues and yellow are a little more so. Cloud white or shadowy black, or a splashy print contrast of both, are also being readied for mild weather wearing.

FABRICS: Winter favorites such as mohair, and menswear wools, having refused to be closeted for the season, are fashioned into bushy or sleek manish fashions.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Here is a nice way to lengthen a little girl's dress and give it a new look:

Cut the dress off at the hem, then scallop the bottom of the dress. These may be large or small scallops depending on the material in the dress.

These scallops may be hemmed, or bound with braid or rickrack, lace, or even lined.

To make small scallops use a uice glass for a pattern and trace around it. For larger scallops use the edge of a saucer. To get them even, use a strip of tape on the plate, the depth you want your scallops to be.

Then add a flounce under the scallops for the needed length.

The flounce may be cotton, nylon, silk, velvet, embroidery or ace. In fact, any material that will contrast with the dress.

Or... if mothers do not want to bother with scalloping, they can just cord the bottom of the dress and then add the flounce.

KATHERINE DEAN.

Ladies, I have an 11-year-old daughter. I tried this method on one of her solid colored dresses. I bought a remnant of contrasting plaid material.

When this was sewn on the bottom of the dress... it made an entirely new outfit.

I also put a matching piece of the plaid on the collar of the dress itself which made it look quite professional.

Our thanks to Miss Katherine for this wonderful tip for us busy housewives and mothers.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I wonder if your readers know that when they have spots and marks on their reading glasses... all they have to do is to wet them under any water faucet and gently, touch their fingers on a bar of soap and wipe the glass. Then wipe them with a tissue. I have discovered that this little dab of soap removes all of the marks from the glass itself.

Thanks, It works.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I have discovered an easy way to keep my entire stove clean with a little effort and no "stove cleaning day".

Each morning, when I wash dishes, I simply go over the entire stove with a wet dish rag, just like I wash the breakfast table.

At first, if your stove is as dirty as mine was, you will have a black rag.

I put ammonia on my dish rag every morning when I first started doing this. Now I only use the ammonia twice a week.

This only takes a minute and I always do it even if I haven't used the stove for anything but boiling eggs.

BETTY GHILARDUCCI

DEAR HELOISE: I clean my shrimp by running an ice pick down the back toward their tails.

The shell and vein pull off easily. Try it. I like it better than a deveiner.

Q.

DEAR HELOISE: I have new wall paper on my living room and my husband got some hair oil on the paper near his chair.

What can be done... please?

CLARA JACKSON

Friends: Have you ever been able to get hair oil off of wall paper?

If you have, please, write to us today and tell us just how you did it. Letters do not have to be signed to appear in this column. Let's help our friend, Clara. Address mail to Heloise.

Worst Storm In 100 Years Rips England

LONDON (AP)—A new blizzard swirled steadily down on southern England today, deepening the worst snow in Britain's 100 years of recorded weather history. Continuous snowfalls were forecast for the rest of the day. Weathermen said they could see no sign of a break in the cold before next week. The temperature rose above freezing at only a few places in the nation. At least 17 deaths were blamed on the paralyzing weather, and more were feared. Thousands of farm animals lay dead in the snow. Thousands more were in danger unless food could be got to them. Vegetables were scarce and costly in shops as the snows ruined crops. The new blizzard struck first Wednesday night at the Isle of Wight, off the southern coast. Then gales pushed the storm inland. Highways that had been plowed clear Wednesday were blocked once more. Isolated communities were locked in even more tightly by drifts that rose in some places to 25 feet. London got only a moderate new snowfall during the night. But a film of hard-packed snow and ice made the streets dangerous. Weather conditions continued grim on the Continent too. Belgium was frosted with a thin layer of ice, and in Brussels no buses and virtually no private cars braved slippery streets. There was heavy rain and snow in the Italian Alps. Norway, where the winter ranks as the third coldest of the 20th day, had temperatures as low as 22 degrees below zero. MASS SET FOR PRIEST (CINCINNATI AP) — Archbishop Karl J. Alter will celebrate a requiem mass Monday for the Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Henry Schengber, pastor of St. Francis De Sales Church and oldest priest of the archdiocese. Msgr. Schengber died Wednesday. He was 95.

Alliance Fire Victims In Good Condition

ALLIANCE — Two elderly persons and a city fireman, victims of the $15,000 fire at the Lexington Hotel here Tuesday night, are listed in good condition and are expected to be released soon, Alliance City Hospital reports. Recovering from the blaze that routed 37 persons from their rooms are Roy R. Rogers, 69, in whose room the fire started, and Edward Yost, 65. Rogers was treated for contusions of the head and smoke inhalation. Yost received first and second degree burns of the hands, feet and shoulders. Most seriously injured, however, was Lt. Frank Campbell, city fireman who severed a tendon on his right thumb when he broke a window to enter Rogers' flaming room. Assistant Fire Chief Karl Held blamed the fire on careless smoking. Held and his men limited the blaze to Rogers' room where $180 in the man's billfold in a stuffed chair was saved. Because of the earth's centrifugal force, 5,000 tons of cargo loaded on a ship in the vicinity of the equator would weigh 25 tons more at the poles.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Ulcers That Plague Mankind

A very rich but high - strung man was once heard to say: "Up to now I've been working on my first ulcer." Let's hope that he took stock of himself and prevented his first ulcer by learning to relax and to handle his emotional problems with equanimity.

Dr. Brandstadt Peptic ulcer is really two separate diseases: gastric (stomach) ulcer and duodenal ulcer which occurs just beyond the outlet of the stomach. Most persons with duodenal ulcer are men, but both men and women get gastric ulcers in about the same proportion. The nervous tensions that are now known to play a large part in causing duodenal ulcers have not been associated with gastric ulcers.

Topics of Interest To Farmers; Notes About Meetings

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers started the New Year off with a price level 1 per cent above a year ago but with little prospect of improvement in 1963.

The Agriculture Department has reported that prices received by farmers late in December were down 1 per cent from the November level but still 1 per cent above the December level of 1961.

But this modest price improvement was more than offset by a 2 per cent increase in 1962 in the prices farmers paid for goods and services.

Agriculture Department economists have predicted that farm prices may lose a little ground this year, reflecting increases in production and supplies of some products, particularly livestock.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Farmers Union says the chances of new farm legislation at the new session of Congress may well be determined by opening battles over congressional rules.

Bipartisan groups of liberal senators want to make it easier to stop filibusters in the Senate. In the House, another fight looms over attempts to enlarge the Rules Committee and thus head off conservative control of the committee. It exercises wide control over measures going before the House. President Kennedy has voiced strong support for increasing the committee's membership.

In a news letter to members, the farm organization said: "When the outcome of these two fights is determined, the administration and their supporters in Congress will then have a gauge by which they can measure the chances for passage of new farm legislation."

The Farmers Union has supported administration moves to tighten farm production and supply controls.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reports that prospects for a larger pig crop is strengthening corn prices.

A recent Crop Reporting Board report forecast a 4 per cent increase in the size of the 1963 spring pig crop over the 1962 crop. It also reported there were 3 per cent more hogs on farms now than a year earlier.

These figures indicated that the demand for corn, which has grown sharply in recent years under an expanding livestock industry, will be stronger during the winter and spring than had been expected earlier.

Hawaii's total land area of 6,423 square miles makes it one of the smallest states of the Union, despite the fact that its string of 20 islands extends more than 1,600 miles over the central Pacific.

Cabas Cautions Players About Girard, Akron East

Improved Quakers Practice On Press

Salem Basketball Coach John Cabas has tempered his players' enthusiasm with words of caution during drills this week.

He has told them, "Although Girard and Akron East don't appear to be strong on paper, they will be ready for us."

Most of the opponents the Quakers face throughout a season usually play their better games against Salem.

Salem has been polishing up its offensive maneuvers during workouts this week.

THE SALEM MENTOR

has also worked the squad hard on the second and third phases of the press.

In the early successes the Quakers have enjoyed so far, the "karate press" has been a deciding factor.

Last week against Akron North, the defensive tactics rattled the Vikings so much that Salem was able to tally 29 points in the second session and build a commanding lead.

Coach George Light, one of the deans of basketball in the district, brings a veteran Girard aggregation here Friday night.

The Indians, with three-year veteran Emil Dzur, 6-5, have lost five straight and haven't played since Dec. 22.

TWO OF THE Indians' losses were to Niles 69-39 and Youngstown South, 69-52. Salem faces both schools later in the campaign.

After a somewhat slow start, Salem appears to have jelled.

27 District Cage Contests Scheduled This Weekend

By LYNN BROWNE

Fourteen area basketball games Friday night and 13 on Saturday add up to the biggest weekend of district cage tilts since the season opened the last week of November.

Despite the fact that the season is well underway, the positions in league standing are still pretty much wide open.

IN THE TRI-COUNTY loop all eight teams have had just one league fray with Lisbon, Columbiana, Leontonia and East Palestine ending up in the win column and Poland, Minerva, Sebring and Louisville going to the losers' bracket.

A full slate is set for the weekend in the league, however, with all schools encountering two league foes.

ON FRIDAY NIGHT Lisbon will take its 4-1 season mark into action against the invading Leontonia Bears while Columbiana also will have a 4-1 record will be on the road at East Palestine. In other Friday night loop action, Louisville will be at Minerva and Poland will be at Sebring.

On Saturday night the Blue Devils of Lisbon will travel to Louisville to battle the Leopards, East Palestine and Leontonia will clash at Leontonia. Minerva will be at Poland and Sebring will be at Columbiana.

GREENFORD AND MINERAL Ridge hold down the first and second spots, respectively, in the Inter-County League. The Bobcats sport a perfect 3-0 mark while the Ramblers are 3-1.

Only one loop tilt is slated for Friday and another pair for Saturday.

On Friday Lowellville with an 0-4 season mark will tangle with the host North Lima Zippers in a battle of the winless. North Lima is currently 0-6 for the season.

Saturday's card will include the Rebels of Crestview at McDonald and the Greenford Bobcats at North Lima.

NO TURNPIKE CONFERENCE tilts have been played but three are on tap for this weekend and should shed some light on how things will shape up in that league.

Springfield Local, which has the best season record (5-1) of the five loop teams, will be at Canfield on Friday to challenge the Cardinals, who have won four of their six contests for the second best mark. Also on Friday Jackson-Milton will travel to Warren St. Mary's.

In non-league action Friday Salineville will be at Greenford, Girard will be at Salem, Mineral Ridge will be at Mathews, Malvern will be at United, West Branch will entertain Lakeview, Beaver Local will invade Carrollton and Wellsville will play host to Toronto.

Rose Bowl Star Bypassed Before

7 NFL Clubs Now Eye VanderKelen

NEW YORK (AP)—Ron VanderKelen was a forgotten young man by pro football clubs a month ago—but several of them have become keenly interested in the Wisconsin sharpshooter due to his super-sensational show in the Rose Bowl.

The slim Badger quarterback wrote one of the brightest chapters in post-season football history in the New Year's Day classic, firing a dramatic final period rally that barely fell short as Southern California's national champions outlasted Wisconsin 42-37.

Afterward, it was noted with some amazement that VanderKelen had been bypassed completely by the 14 National Football League clubs when they drafted 280 players last month and had been ignored in the American League draft until the 21st round when he was picked by the New York Titans.

But if the boy who paced Wisconsin to the nation's No. 2 ranking this past season was virtually unwanted in December, his dazzling performance at Pasadena, Calif., has made him a prize catch in January.

At least seven NFL teams are interested in him now, the AFL is angling for him and a Canadian Football League club is in the race for VanderKelen's signature.

In an Associated Press survey, the NFL outfits that expressed interest in the Badger star were the champion Green Bay Packers, the Los Angeles Rams, Chicago Bears, St. Louis Cardinals, Cleveland Browns, Minnesota Vikings and Philadelphia Eagles.

NFL clubs were at a loss to explain why VanderKelen was skipped in their draft, several of them saying simply that they "missed one." Some factors noted were that since VanderKelen played only 90 seconds as a junior and developed somewhat late this past season, it was hard to assay his talents; and that he was more an all-round player rather than the specialist type the pros seek.

The Badger ace, now in Honopool will play host to Youngstown South, Badger will be at Lowellville, Mineral Ridge will entertain Lordstown, Jackson-Milton will be at Western Reserve, Salem will battle invading Akron East and West Branch will be at Alliance.

Standings in the three area leagues are as follows:

Salem Boosters Club Will Meet Tonight

The Salem Boosters will resume its weekly meetings at the Memorial Building tonight at 7:30.

Coach John Cabas will give a talk on this week's Girard, Akron East game prospects and show movies of past contests.

Russell Leads Boston Celtics Over Warriors

By The Associated Press
This then, was the day big Bill Russell went home to San Francisco.

Russell, an All-America during his college days at San Francisco, led his Boston Celtics teammates into the Cow Palace Wednesday night for their first meeting in San Francisco in a regular season National Basketball Association game with the transplanted Warriors.

And big Bill, generally regarded as the finest defensive player ever, responded to the cheers of a San Francisco crowd of 12,067 with one of his better efforts among many good ones. He held the Warriors' Wilt Chamberlain to 23 points—less than half his 50 point per game average—while Boston stalked off with a 135-120 overtime triumph.

Syracuse whipped St. Louis 120-95 and Detroit bombed Cincinnati 138-118 in the only scheduled games.

Russell scored only 10 points, but his defensive job on Chamberlain was a major factor as the Celtics struggled from behind, then romped in overtime.

Andy Bathgate Ties NHL Mark

Andy Bathgate wasn't at all concerned that his record-equaling goal was of the so-called "cheap" variety.

"I'll take the good with the bad, or is it the other way around?" the smiling veteran said in the New York Ranger dressing room Wednesday night.

The goal in question was a weird one bouncing off the stick of a Toronto defenseman into the Maple Leafs' nets and setting the Rangers off on a comeback that brought them a 3-2 victory in the only National Hockey League game on schedule.

What's more important, it allowed the 30-year-old Ranger captain to equal one of the league's most prized records. It was the ninth consecutive game in which Bathgate had scored a goal, matching the mark held jointly by Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffron, both of Montreal.

Toronto Held 2-0 Lead

Toronto held a 2-0 lead midway through the middle period when Bathgate's goal trickled into the net. It couldn't have been intentional. The veteran wing was shooting from an impossible angle.

He picked up the puck at the left side of the net, beyond the goal mouth and whipped a whirling, backhand pass, apparently intended for teammate Dean Prentice across the goal.

Instead, Toronto defenseman Red Kelly got his stick on the pass and, attempting to clear the puck, flipped it behind the amazed Toronto goalie, Don Simmons, into the net.

Easier To Remember
Many observers felt Bathgate may be a bit embarrassed in the manner in which he made the record book. Not so, said Andy. "Maybe it's better this way," he said. "This way I'll remember it—and so will they."

Two goals by rookie Rod Gilbert provided the tying and winning markers for the Rangers and a superlative, 47-save performance by goalie Gump Worsley made it stand up.

Mark My Word

By MARK W. MILLER

Following the Akron North basketball contest last Friday, Coach Robert White said "We won't be coming back here next year."

The Vikings' mentor was irked at the conclusion of the tilt as his team was trounced by Salem 89-72.

He felt he had gotten a raw deal from the officials and refused to congratulate Salem Coach John Cabas after the fray was over.

Two of Akron North's players fouled out in the final frame. The officials called a like number of fouls (18) on both schools.

The teams that play at Salem annually are allowed to pick their own officials for the clash here. Coach White chose and contacted the blue-clad whistle blowers for last Friday.

Akron East has the same privilege for the fray this Saturday, and powerful Akron South also has the same rights.

Salem Coach John Cabas says, "Anyone who will play us here year-in-and-year-out, can choose their own officials for the game."

PRIOR TO THE first four clashes on the 1962-63 card, Coach Cabas noticed that his aggregation wasn't warmed up enough for the start of each tilt.

In the pre-game huddle just before the Vikings' fray, members on the Salem Unit were sweating.

Senior Bob King, 6-5, was perspiring freely at the beginning. He went on to have his best night of the campaign so far.

He told Coach Cabas in the dressing room following the clash that it was the best he had felt all season.

King scored eight of 15 field goal attempts, and two foul shots for 18 points. He also cleared the boards of 23 rebounds.

He is tied for second place in the scoring department with 58 points for the first five games.

FRED PHILLIS, former Salem athlete, received a varsity letter in football at Bowling Green University the past season.

He played right end on both offense and defense, while BG was copping the MAC championship.

Phillis played high school football for Salem in 1959. He was co-captain of the squad, and was chosen its MVP.

He also played on the Columbiana County All-Star aggregation and received honorable mention statewide.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Phillis of Route 3 Salem.

THE TOP BASKETBALL game this weekend in the district should be the clash between unbeaten Canton McKinley and Warren Harding.

A lot of statewide recognition hinges on the outcome. The Panthers are 6-1, while the Bulldogs boast a 5-0 mark.

Both schools show 2-0 in the Ohio Big 8 Conference standings.

The Panthers' only loss was to defending Pennsylvania state champion Uniontown 54-48 in the Farrell, Pa., Christmas Cage Tourney.

Uniontown has won 21 straight. Warren led for three quarters, but failed to score any points in the last five minutes of the tilt.

Coach Dick Boyd's squad is led by three-year veteran Jim Gardner, 6-7, who is averaging 30.3 points per game.

Salem travels to Warren to meet the Panthers Jan. 11. Canton McKinley is here Feb. 16.

THE ALLIANCE Amateur Football League is seeking a Salem representative to participate in the program next season.

A total of three teams (18 years of age and older) competed last season. There were 55 players that saw action on the Chargers, Hornets and Hillcrest aggregations.

Kent, Canton and Alliance were represented on the teams that played Sunday afternoons at Early Hill Field.

A starting unit consists of nine players, five on the line, and four in the backfield. No player can weigh more than 200 pounds.

Teams interested should contact Andrew Estock at 11330 N. Webb in Alliance.

A roster of 21 players will be allowed, and each team must furnish its own equipment, including jerseys all the same color.

HEAVYWEIGHT BOXER Alejandro Lavorante, knocked out nearly 100 days ago, is still in a coma.

The Argentine fighter was able to eat a special Christmas meal at California Lutheran Hospital.

Although he never opens his eyes, he has been responding to stimuli and taking food through his mouth for some time.

Lavorante, 26, underwent three brain operations after he was knocked out Sept. 21 by Johnny Riggins.

Niles High School is seeking opponents for the three open dates on its 1963 football schedule.

Any teams interested in meeting the undefeated Red Dragons, who have the longest winning streak in the state (35-0-3), should contact Athletic Director Larry Pallante.

Georgia Tech, DePaul Remain Unbeaten

Duke's Rally Rips Virginia 82-65

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Chalk up another big number for Cincinnati's hot-handed Bearcats—28.

The Bearcats, unchallenged as No. 1 in college basketball and gunning for their third straight national championship, extended the country's longest current winning streak and set a school record for consecutive victories Wednesday night by taking their 28th in a row. They humbled Houston 79-56.

Elsewhere — seventh-ranked Duke overcame Virginia 82-65 behind a brilliant second-half performance by Moon Mullins; Georgia Tech and DePaul remained unbeaten, the Engineers whipping the Air Force 61-48 and the Blue Demons routing Baldwin-Wallace 89-70; Notre Dame tripped Indiana 73-70 and Purdue downed Drake in overtime 83-79.

Tom Thacker had the most productive scoring night of his three-season varsity career for Cincinnati with 23 points as the Bearcats breezed against visiting Houston. Cincinnati broke an early 6-6 tie with nine straight points, led 43-28 at the half, and kept pouring it on.

Mullins Pumps In 25
Mullins pumped in 25 second-half points in Duke's unexpectedly tough tussle with Virginia in the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Cavaliers led through much of the first half and had a 45-41 edge on the favored Blue Devils midway in the second. But scoring bursts of six and eight points by Mullins sparked Duke to the victory. The 6-foot-4 junior had 25 points after intermission and 30 for the night.

Georgia Tech's tall and muscular Yellow Jackets, now 8-0, took charge early against the Air Force in an attack led by Keith Weekly, who scored 10 of their first 11 points. DePaul, 7-0 and with its three front men averaging 6-7, sputtered at the start against Baldwin-Wallace's press but gradually pulled away to a healthy 54-33 advantage at half-time.

Irish Trained By 21
Larry Sheffield paced Notre Dame's Irish, who trailed by 21 points at one stage of the first half and were behind 46-30 at intermission. The sophomore guard held Indiana ace Jimmy Rayl without a field goal in the second half, hit the winning basket with 14 seconds to go and added the final bucket at the gun. Sheffield finished with 14 points, 10 in the second half, while Rayl scored 21, but only one in the second half.

Mel Garland netted 30 points, six of them in the extra period, in Purdue's overtime victory against Drake.

HOOP TALK

By...Double Dribble

Back again, and happier than ever! 'Twas certainly the season to be jolly in Quakertown over the recent holidays! Salem's improving Quakers displayed the kind of "fight" and "desire" we all knew they were capable of... didn't they? The Quaker press certainly put a crease in the records of John Adams and Akron North! And as for shooting percentages, 51.7 and 46.9 per cent are certainly nothing to be sore about.

Well, enough about last week. Let's get to the task at hand... First, Girard High's Indians... A puzzling tribe, this, all veteran Warriors, but no victories the last 5 times they've donned war-paint! They have fair size... they have experience (even if it was poor, they ended last season 2-17) so-o-o, they should be winning ballgames... Look for a little tougher contest than the book says you should expect.

Secondly, we have the Oriental puzzle (pun intended). This team could hardly be put in a Chinese Bandit type category... because although they have the horses, they can't seem to get on the track.

Here is a team which should have everything going for them that just can't seem to find the handle... size, speed, experience, ability, you name it... they've got it... with the exception of wins... their record? It's 1 and 5.

Either of the above teams are capable of winning here this week IF, and here we are again, if the get hot, if they have the desire, and if the Quakers let down because of their records... Don't let 'em do it, boys, scalp those Indians! Sink the Orientals!

Other Bits of Wisdom... Seems that some Seventh Grade basketball is being played here... but it's in St. Paul's...

Seems that the coaching of the teams there is donated by several area men... Any volunteers for the Salem Jr. High?

Poor Sports? I'll say! How can the spectators at a game feel obligated to give the officials a hard time when the team they are rooting for is waltzing to victory by a sizable margin? I'll admit, yelling at a couple of guys you hardly know is a better method of letting off steam than kicking your dog... but these guys are human too... and being human they are as capable of making mistakes as you... (yes, I'll admit! make some, too, if you insist). Next time out, before you start to yell, just imagine he's in the stands and you're making the calls... you may catch a few he doesn't... but you'll miss just as many, too.

Determination pays off all the way around! Salem's Jayvees brought home their first win of the season... and hustle seemed to be the difference. Nice job, you guys, keep up the good work.

I'm sure I missed something you are interested in, but you can't win 'em all... Besides, how'll I know what you would like unless you tell me... Write Double Dribble, Box 341, Salem, Ohio.

Thanks for your letter, I.T. and as you can see, I didn't drown in my tears, nor break my neck from tripping over crying towels... It was nice hearing from you again... I think.

I Hereby Resolve

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Have you made any good resolutions for 1963?

I have.
I have resolved not to get tattooed.

Living has taught me that in the matter of good resolutions it pays to move slowly and carefully.

On the way to a place where I sometimes lunch, I pass the parlor—or perhaps den is the better word—of a tattoo artist. His window is full of brightly colored designs and fascinating photographs of his human needlework.

For 10 years, I have had a wild and unwholesome urge to go inside and have a favorite design tattooed on my forehead—the great ship Titanic sinking—in four vivid colors. The design naturally includes the iceberg which caused the ship to go down.

Each year I have resolved not to yield to temptation and let myself be tattooed in this manner. I credit my success so far to inherent strength of character, and two other factors:

My wife says the sight of any kind of shipwreck makes her nervous, and

Few companies would issue credit or lend money to a man with the sinking of the Titanic inscribed on his forehead, no matter how much such a tattoo would enhance one's prestige at cocktail parties.

When 1964 dawns, my forehead will be disappointingly bare as ever, but I'll have the consolation of knowing that I kept my word to myself and carried out the good resolution I made.

At the risk of being smug, I'd like to point out the major error of millions of Americans today in the seasonal throes of trying to fulfill their good resolutions.

They go on too big a self-improvement binge.

"I'm going to give up smoking, drinking and overeating," says the man. "I'm going to take off 20 pounds and get more exercise."

"I'm going to get more sleep, and loaf less at the office. I'm going to be kinder to my wife and children, and quit kicking the neighbor's dog around. I'm going to—"

In three days he turns himself into a nervous wreck, and by the end of the week he has made everyone around him miserable, too.

The thing to do is to start with a small good resolution—the smaller the better—but then go ahead and keep it.

For example, why don't you, too, resolve to abstain from having the sinking of the Titanic tattooed on your forehead during 1963?

If the temptation becomes too irresistible, you can compromise by having it tattooed on your chest. You will still be a man of half-honor.

And half an honor is better than none.

Charles Pennell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pennell of Salineville Road, who recently enlisted in the Army, left Wednesday for Ft. Jackson, S. C., to begin basic training.

On New Year's Day, he was the honor guest at a family dinner party given by his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Henthorne, and sons, Dennis, Danny and Donnie, of N. Market St.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Pennell, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Hepler Jr. and children, Kathy and Howard Paul of Paris; and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Polen of Salem.

John Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Adams of Gavers, who also enlisted in the service, accompanied Pvt. Pennell to Camp.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Lewton Sr. of W. High St. entertained friends and relatives for New Year's Day dinner. Present were Mrs. Frank Flugan, Mrs. A. E. Christopher, Miss Eva Armstrong, Miss Lois Armstrong, Mrs. Viola Newhouse and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Lewton Jr., all of Lisbon.

WORKERS TO STRIKE

EVENDALE, Ohio (AP)—Members of the International Association of Machinists have voted to go on strike against General Electric at this Cincinnati suburb unless their grievances with the firm are settled.

Business Representative Arnold Tucker said no strike will be called for one to three weeks pending sanction by the international union and possible settlement of the grievances.

NAMED PUC MEMBER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Richard C. Addison of Columbus has been appointed and sworn in as a member of the Public Utilities Commission. He succeeds Rankin M. Gibson, new judge of the Ohio Supreme Court.

'Work-And-Play' Excursions Eyed

New Regulation In Effect On Business Trip Deductions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has set the brake on free-wheeling fun at the expense of other taxpayers.

The cost of business travel is always a legitimate income tax deduction. But too many trips—when examined by the tax man—have turned out to be work-and-play excursions with the emphasis on play.

From Jan. 1 on, out-of-town playtime is strictly at the taxpayer's own expense under the Internal Revenue Service's new regulation for business travel, entertainment and gifts.

The regulation, effective for 1963 income tax returns, is designed to insure that the great body of American taxpayers isn't footing the bill for freeloading junkies, night club and theatre forays to the big city, and winter vacations under the southern sun.

Taxpayers who claim deductions for travel costs must record in a diary or account book every expenditure for out-of-town meals, lodging and incidentals, large or small. A voucher or receipt must be retained and kept for any out-train, plane or bus tickets.

However, employees who are reimbursed for travel, entertainment and gift outlays, and therefore do not claim deduction of their own, are not expressly required to keep the diary of costs which IRS otherwise demands.

Companies which follow the fairly common practice of giving employees a flat per diem allowance for travel of $25 or less need not keep substantiating records. The $25 limit does not include entertainment, or plane or rail fares.

Similarly, a mileage allowance for transportation can be used without substantiation of it does not exceed 15 cents a mile.

The day to day record of business travel which the new regulations require must be completed within a couple of days after the expenditure was made and must include the following information:

1. Amount. Each outlay must be noted separately, although breakfast, lunch and dinner may be shown for each day as a single item, "meals." Small and incidental items also may be grouped under such headings as taxi fares, tips, or gas and oil.

2. Time. The record must show the dates of departure and return, and the number of days spent away from home on business.

3. Place.—The city of destination or area of travel.

4. Business purpose. The business reason for the travel must be stated.

Youth on Trial In Girl's Death

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — William Carl Boehm, 17, was scheduled to go on trial today before a three-judge panel for first-degree murder in the death of a 13-year old Middletown girl.

Police say Boehm, also of Middletown, as admitted he beat Deborah Anne Lafayette to death with a rock and an empty metal milk can when she resisted his advances last Oct. 21.

The girl's body was found near New York Central Railroad tracks at Middletown, and authorities first thought she might have been hit by something sticking out of a train.

But when police found the bloodstained milk can, they picked up Boehm for questioning.

Judge David Black of Butler County Domestic Relations Juvenile Court waived jurisdiction in the case and the youth was ordered to trial after he was found legally sane.

The panel of judges trying Boehm consists of Fred B. Cramer and Arthur J. Fiehrer of Butler County Common Pleas Court and Common Pleas Judge Frank M. Gusweiler of adjoining Hamilton County.

RECEIVE DIVORCE

CHICAGO (AP)—A divorce has been granted to Mrs. Ann M. O'Donnell 39, whose father was the late Sen. Martin Sweeney of Ohio and whose brother, Robert Sweeney, unsuccessfully ran for Ohio attorney general last fall. The decree Wednesday ended her 16-year marriage to Martin O'Donnell, 41, job coordinator for Cook County (Chicago), and gave her custody of their five children.

MAN, WIFE SHOT

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Otha Clay walked to a next-door neighbor's house, announced "I've been shot," and collapsed bleeding from a neck wound Wednesday night. Police entering Clay's home found Clay's wife, Johnnie Mae, about 50 shot fatally. A pistol was nearby. Investigation was continuing into who did the shooting. Clay was reported in fair condition in St. Elizabeth Hospital.

FINED UNDER BLUE LAW
CINCINNATI (AP) — County Court Judge Robert A. Wood has convicted Louis Dollin, president of the Econo-Fair Store, of violating the Sunday closing law and fined him $25 plus costs. Dollin's attorney said he would appeal. Judge Wood dismissed blue law violation charges against three Econo-Fair managers who were cited on later Sundays.

Industry Pay Here Had November Gain

Local industrial payroll receipts were more than $800,000 greater in November, 1962, than they were in November of 1961, according to figures released today by the Salem Area Chamber of Commerce.

Last November's receipts also exceeded the previous month's receipts.

Payroll receipts for November, 1962 were $1,938,176; for October, 1962, $1,614,597; for November 1961, $1,137,068.

Casualties Being Evacuated As Viet Nam Fighting Eases

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The major battle 50 miles southwest of Saigon subsided during the night, and both government troops and Communist guerrillas were evacuating hundreds of casualties today.

Sporadic clashes continued as the Communists probed government positions. But further casualties were light, and both sides evidently were more concerned with their dead and wounded than with renewing the battle.

Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, visited the battleground near the Mekong River delta town of Tan Hiep. He said he believed the government forces had encircled the Communist Viet Cong and stood a chance of crushing them.

Government air strikes were expected later in the day.

Military sources said more than 100 government troops may have been killed in the battle Wednesday. It was the bloodiest clash President Ngo Dinh Diem's troops have fought with the Viet Cong to date.

American casualties in the past 24 hours totaled three killed and eight wounded. A U.S. Army captain and two helicopter crewmen were killed and six helicopter crewmen were wounded in the battle near Tan Hiep. Two other U.S. Army men were wounded in operations elsewhere.

Officials said the three American dead brought to 26 the number of Americans killed in action in the Viet Nam civil war. The Pentagon put the figure at 24 killed in action and said there had been 31 deaths from other causes.

Viet Cong casualties were unknown. But there were reports of sampans loaded with dead or wounded guerrillas moving along canals leading out of the area.

The Viet Cong force that attacked from ambush Wednesday was estimated at two regular battalions reinforced by a heavy weapons company — a total of about 600 men. U.S. advisers and Vietnamese officers said they could not estimate how many remained in the area. The government poured in about 800 paratroopers.

B-W RECEIVES LOAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Community Facilities Administration has awarded a $1,250,000 loan to Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, Ohio for a college union. The money will be added to $550,000 of college funds to finance construction.
